Manager Commentary

Most of the Asian equities were in cautious stance as most of the investors are digesting the latest hawkish signal from The Fed, as well as domestic inflation pressure in Asian countries, while at the same time looking for new fresh catalysts for the market. The headline August NBS manufacturing PMI, despite improving to 49.4 from 49.0, modestly above the consensus reading of 49.2, remained in contractionary territory and essentially forebodes an unimpressive 3Q22 in terms of economic growth. Domestically, new orders improved to 49.2 from 48.5. Externally, the improvement in new export orders was smaller in magnitude, increasing to 48.1 from 47.4.

US equity market ended the month with a cautious stance as fears of higher interest rates and recession weighed on markets. The Federal Reserve' Jerome Powell left his hawkish comment during the Jackson Hole meeting as the central bank is focusing on bringing down inflation also looking forward to peak of US inflation as several leading indicators are pointing to one.
