Manager Commentary

Equities in the Pacific ex Japan region was mixed in February. While Chinese stocks surged, overall performance was held back by muted returns in Australia, the region's largest market. Chinese equities rebounded strongly over February, with the CSI 300 Index recording its best monthly gain since November 2022. After a weak start to the month, which saw Chinese stocks hit five-year lows, and an extended shutdown due to the Lunar New Year, investors were cheered by increasing signs of Beijing's determination to end the slump in share prices. The securities regulator promised to crack down on stock price manipulation and "malicious short selling", while state funds vowed to step up share purchases. There were also rising hopes that March's National Party Congress would see the announcement of further stimulus measures. Australian stocks advanced, but lagged the broader region, weighed down by weak returns in the materials and energy sectors. The Reserve Bank of Australia kept rates on hold, but minutes of February's meeting showed that policymakers had considered raising rates further but decided to maintain the current monetary stance given signs of moderating inflation. Australia's monthly consumer price index held steady at an annual gain of 3.4% in January, the lowest level since November 2021. Elsewhere, stocks delivered solid gains in Taiwan and South Korea. In particular, Taiwanese equities hit a fresh record high, buoyed by robust gains from chipmaker Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing which continues to benefit from the interest in AI-related stocks. ASEAN markets advanced but lagged more developed markets. The Philippines, Indonesia and Malaysia posted the strongest returns, while Singapore was the weakest market, weighed down by disappointing earnings for some of its largest constituents.

Central Bureau Statistics of Indonesia (BPS) announced February 2024 inflation at +0.37% MoM (vs consensus inflation +0.24%, +0.04% in January 2024). On yearly basis, inflation was at +2.75% YoY (vs consensus inflation +2.60%, +2.57% in January 2024). Core inflation was printed at +1.68% YoY (vs consensus inflation +1.70%, +1.68% in January 2024). The higher inflation MoM was contributed by the higher price of health group and transportation. The BI Board of Governors agreed in their meeting on 20-21 February 2024 to hold the BI 7-Day Reverse Repo Rate at 6.00% and also held the Deposit Facility (DF) and Lending Facility (LF) rates at 5.25% and 6.75%, respectively. In total, Bank Indonesia had increased their benchmark rate by 250bps up to Dec 2023. The decision remains consistent with the pro-stability focus of monetary policy, namely to strengthen rupiah stabilization policy, and as a pre-emptive and forward-looking measure to maintain inflation within the 2.5%±1% target corridor in 2024. Rupiah strengthened against USD by +0.56% from 15,803 at the end of January 2024 to 15,715 at the end of February 2024. The strengthening of Rupiah was impacted by the weakening of the dollar index as several FED officials have reiterated that the FFR has reached its peak level, and there is room for rate cuts in 2024. However, the Fed will not rush into cutting the FFR. Indonesia's trade balance recorded surplus amounting to USD +2,015mn in January 2024 vs previous month surplus USD +3,285mn in December 2023. The lower trade surplus was impacted by export show negative growth in January 2024. Non-oil and gas trade balance in January 2024 recorded surplus USD +3,316mn, which was lower than the previous month that recorded trade surplus amounting to USD +5,179mn in December 2023. Meanwhile, oil and gas trade balance still recorded deficit to USD -1,301mn in January 2024, which was lower than the deficit in December 2023 amounting to USD -1,894mn. Indonesia recorded current account deficit of USD -1.29 billion in Q4 of 2023 from Current Account Surplus USD 3.50 billion in the same period of the previous year, accounting for -0.38 percent of the country's GDP. The deficit driven by goods balance surplus thinner at USD 11.30bn in Q4 of 2023 from USD 17.00bn in Q4 of 2022. Indonesia's official reserve assets position amassed USD 144.0 billion as of the end of February 2024, decrease from USD 145.1 billion as of January 2024. The decrease was impacted by government's external debt repayments.

The JCI ended the month higher at 7,316.11 (+1.50% MoM). Market movers were BBRI, BREN, BMRI, AMMN and BBKA as they rose +7.46%, +22.22%, +5.26%, +12.96%, and +3.40% MoM respectively. Global equities rallied further in February despite bond yields moving higher as combination of strong economic data and continuous disinflation trend globally albeit services component remaining sticky are driving market expectations towards a no-recession scenarios in the US. Domestically in Indonesia, the JCI also ended the month higher (+1.50% MoM) driven by market expectations of a lesser political uncertainty ahead post early poll election results that suggest a one round victory for Prabowo. Sector wise, the Infrastructure Sector was the best performing sector during the month, gaining +5.03% MoM. Ticker wise, KARW (Ictsi Jasa Prima) and ARKO (Arkora Hydro) were the movers, appreciating +155.56% and +55.26% MoM respectively. This was followed by the Non-Cyclical Sector which rallied +1.26% MoM. Ticker wise, PTPS (Pulau Subur) and JARR (Jhonlin Agro Raya) posted +144.32% and +38.24% MoM gains respectively. On the other hand, the worst sector during the month was the Technology Sector, which recorded a decline of -10.18% MoM. Ticker wise, MPIX (Mitra Pedagang Indonesia) and NFCX (NFC Indonesia) were the laggards which fell -63.17% and -29.77% MoM respectively.
