Manager Commentary

Central Bureau Statistics of Indonesia (BPS) announced Oct 2020 inflation at +0.07% mom (vs consensus inflation +0.07%, -0.05% in Sep 2020). On yearly basis, inflation was +1.44% yoy (vs consensus inflation +1.45%, +1.42% in Sep 2020). Core inflation was printed at +1.74% yoy (vs consensus inflation +1.82%, +1.86% in Sep 2020). After three months consecutively deflation, finally this month recorded inflation which was supported by the inflation of volatile food group, especially increment on horticulture plants price, such as: chili and onion, while administered price group still recorded deflation on the back of declining of electricity and transportation cost. While the core inflation is lower compared last month on the back of declining of global gold price. In the Board of Governors' Meeting on 12-13 Oct 2020, Bank Indonesia hold the BI 7-day Reverse Repo Rate at 4.00%, and also hold the Deposit Facility (DF) and Lending Facility (LF) rates at 3.25% and 4.75% level, respectively. This policy is expected to maintain Rupiah stability amid low inflation. Rupiah appreciated by +1.53% from 14,918 at end of Sep 2020 to 14,690 at end of Oct 2020. Indonesia's trade balance recorded surplus amounting to USD +2,438mn in Sep 2020 vs previous month surplus USD +2,327mn. The higher number of trade surplus was affected by increment on commodity price, such as: CPO, iron, and steel. The import number grew by +7.7% MoM which was caused by increment of oil imports and machineries (hospital equipment). Non-oil and gas trade balance in Sep 2020 recorded surplus USD +2,908mn, which was higher than the previous month that recorded trade surplus amounting to USD +2,666mn. Meanwhile, oil and gas trade balance still recorded deficit to USD -470mn in Sep 2020, which was higher than the deficit on Aug 2020 amounting to USD -388mn. Indonesia's economy contracted by -3.49% YoY in Q3 2020 (vs previous -5.32%, consensus -3.20%), but recorded positive growth by +5.05% QoQ (vs previous -4.19%, consensus 5.55%) which was supported by the relaxation of PSBB in July - September 2020. With this negative YoY growth, Indonesia's officially enter recession for the first time since 1998 Asian Financial Crisis. The YoY negative growth was contributed by the contraction on household consumption growth by -4.04% YoY, while only government spending grow positively by 9.72% YoY. Indonesia's official foreign reserve as of October 2020 was at USD 133.4 billion, lower than September 2020's number at USD135.2 billion. The decrement of foreign reserve was caused by the payment of external debt.

IDR Government bond yields were lower across all curves on the back of offshore inflows in line with IDR appreciation. Market was opened with weaker tone which was affected by global sentiments, such as: the uncertainty of additional budget stimulus in US and the increasing number of new cases & lockdown reimplementations on several cities in Europe Zone. However, market rebounded with bullish tone which was affected by the approval of Omnibus Law by The Parliament and also the capability of government to contain protest around Indonesia's cities. Thus the confidence level of investor to enter the market was rising again with the hope that Omnibus Law could increase the Indonesia's FDI level. On 8 Oct 2020, MoF succeed to issue new bonds on private placement which the only buyer is Bank Indonesia with burden sharing scheme.
