Manager Commentary

Central Bureau Statistics of Indonesia (BPS) announced May 2020 inflation at +0.07% mom (vs consensus inflation +0.10%, +0.08% in April 2020). On yearly basis, inflation was +2.19% yoy (vs consensus inflation +2.20%, +2.67% in April 2020). Core inflation was printed at +2.65% yoy (vs consensus inflation +2.80%, +2.85% in April 2020). The inflation on May 2020 is the lowest inflation in festive season (Ramadhan & Idul Fitri) since 1998 which the food prices usually increased and could lead higher inflation, but in this year, there was deflation on volatile food group (declining of onion and chicken egg prices). In the Board of Governors' Meeting on 18-19 May 2020, Bank Indonesia hold the BI 7-day Reverse Repo Rate at 4.50% level, and also hold the Deposit Facility (DF) and Lending Facility (LF) rates at 3.25% and 5.25% level, respectively. This policy is to support the rupiah stability, even though there are still room for Bank Indonesia to cut their benchmark rate. Rupiah appreciated by +2.79% to 14,733/USD at end of May 2020 from 15,157/USD previous month. Indonesia's trade balance recorded deficit amounting to USD -345mn in April 2020 vs previous month surplus USD +743.4mn. The trade deficit was caused by increment in non-oil and gas import where the increment was on importing electrical machinery (medical equipment supply). While the export number also lower on the back of lower coal export number which is caused by the weak price of commodity. Non-oil and gas trade balance in April 2020 recorded deficit USD -100.7mn, while the previous month recorded trade surplus amounting to USD +1,676mn. Meanwhile, oil and gas trade balance still recorded deficit to USD -243mn in April 2020, which was lower than the deficit on March 2020 amounting to USD -932.6mn. Indonesia's official foreign reserve as of May 2020 was at USD 130.5billion, higher than April 2020's number at USD 127.9billion. The increment of foreign reserve was affected by withdrawal external government debt and also the placement of banks' foreign currency in Bank Indonesia.
