Manager Commentary

World Equities has been very volatile in the past month, mainly due to hawkish comment made by Fed in the last FOMC meeting. US Indices such as S&P 500 and Dow Jones closes -5.26% and -3.32% respectively. Asian Equities plummeted in the month of January, with Shanghai Composite Index (-7.64%), looks to be in a correction territory, coming into the Lunar New Year Holiday. U.S. Treasury yield also up +0.27% in the past month due to Fed's hawkish statement and persistently high inflation, hence market now expect up to 5 rate hikes in the year of 2022.

Domestic equity market move sideways, where JCI closes +0.76% in the month of January, supported by foreign inflows of Rp6.1tr vs Rp1.4tr in Dec 2021. Indonesia 10-year Bond Yield, also saw a sideways movement, +0.14% in the month of January. Bank Indonesia projects an economic growth of 4.7% - 5.5% in 2022, up from 3.2% - 4.0% in 2021. This shows a better optimism in the economy, despite there are still risk lingering around due to the Covid-19 Pandemic.
