Manager Commentary

It was a volatile month for global equities, with many markets closing March slightly higher. Shares plunged mid-month as sentiment was knocked by worries over the health of the global banking system following the collapse of two regional US lenders. As the uncertainty spread to Europe, Swiss investment bank Credit Suisse was forced into an emergency merger with rival UBS. Nevertheless, global stocks staged a late-month recovery as further falls in headline inflation rates boosted hopes that central banks may adopt a more moderate stance to raising rates. Robust Chinese economic data also contributed to the positive tone at month end. US bonds closed a volatile month with positive returns. An initial sell-off at the start of March saw the 10-year Treasury bond trade back above 4.0% while the yield on the two-year note rose above 5.0% for the first time since 2007. The resultant yield curve inversion of more than 100 basis points (bps) was the most extreme since 1981. However, the collapse of two US regional banks saw bond yields plummet amid growing speculation the Federal Reserve (Fed) would be less likely to raise rates. Yields on 10- and two-year bonds fell as low as 3.35% and 3.6%, respectively, and the yield curve became significantly less inverted.
