Manager Commentary

Equity markets in Asia Pacific advanced over March. Sentiment was lifted by signs of a pickup in growth in China and Europe, as well as the ongoing resilience of the US economy. In Japan, equities added further to their year-to-date gains. After months of speculation and the conclusion of the Shunto annual wage negotiations between labor unions and managements, the Bank of Japan lifted negative interest rates, signaling a move away from deflation. China equities were relatively stable in March, consolidating the pre- and post-Chinese New Year rally. Both onshore and offshore markets have recovered from previous weakness to deliver relatively flat returns year to date. Elsewhere in the region, stocks surged in Taiwan and South Korea as semiconductor companies benefited from the AI wave. Australian stocks also advanced over the month, with the ASX closing at record highs on hopes of rate cuts in the second half of 2024.

China equity market was flattish in March as earnings disappointments weighed down on sentiment, fuelling concern that more of the policy-driven rally will unwind. US Equity Market rallied further in March on an improving outlook for the US economy and expectations that the US Federal Reserve will soon begin its long-awaited cuts to benchmark interest rates.
