Manager Commentary

LQ45 Index weakened -0.33% on total return basis in May, despite a net foreign equity inflow of USD110m. Most of the inflow was, however, driven by the MSCI rebalance at the month's end. Consumer cyclicals was the biggest outperformer during the period as GOTO saw strong buying interests on the last day of the period. Additionally, home improvement names also had strong rebound driven by the rebound of the same-store-sales growth (SSSG). Energy sector, conversely, faced massive selling pressure as global growth slowdown and a weaker-than-expected China recovery depressed commodity prices. On the macro front, the country reported a stable 1Q GDP growth of +5.03% year-on-year (YoY). The main drivers came from government expenditure and private consumption. State governments ramped up spending while improved mobility and services-related sectors continued to drive consumption. Separately, Bank Indonesia (BI) maintained the benchmark rate at 5.75% during the May meeting. The main objective for the Central Bank remained to be Rupiah stability. Based on our market trend and fundamental assessment, the overall market outlook of Indonesian equities remained modestly negative during May. In the portfolio, we slightly increased equity exposure and maintained an underweight position in equities at around 72% during the month. The equity component outperformed the benchmark in the month of May. The underweight positions in the energy and material sectors were the main reasons for the outperformance.
